

FRANCIZATION

IN CANADA

Setting up an office in Québec?

You need to comply with the Charter of Québec on French Translation

Francization regulations, set forth by the Government of Québec, are intended to establish French as the primary language of business and commerce. All businesses are required to provide written employee communications and schedules in French and must ensure that employees have a good working knowledge of the French language.

We recently helped Famous Footwear set up their store in Québec. Language Solutions can help your company with Francization, French Translation for Canada and Bilingual design.

Bilingual Packaging

There are specific guidelines which must be followed for any products that are packaged and labeled for Canada per the Federal Consumer Packaging and Labeling Act and the Consumer Packaging and Labeling Regulations published by the Government of Canada. Language Solutions can help you with design, translation and typesetting of your packaging. We can also work with your Canadian distributor to make the process seamless for you.

French Translation for Canada

French used in Canada is different from European French in terminology, punctuation, expressions, etc. Professional French translators for Canada also must adhere to approved terminology that is published by the Government of Canada.

In addition, if you are doing business in Québec or marketing there, you must adhere to the language rules set by the OQLF.
